

The Goring

The Dirty Thirties

So here we are in the Thirties! Sadly, after the prosperity of the Roaring Twenties we have to report a much bleaker picture in the 1930s. We have just seen the lowest stock market crash in American history and the Great Depression has well and truly set in.

However, it is not all doom and gloom! The first intercontinental commercial airline flights are available between USA and London so we are expecting a boom. We all love this new jazz on the wireless. Then there is this amazing new skyscraper – the Empire State Building – which is soon to rise high above New York. Here at The Goring there is yet more good news – The Depression has led to a lowering of rates!

Now a room is only 85 pence!

Stay for three nights or more and you will enjoy one night at the price of 1930 (85 pence). And don't forget - you are invited to the bar on the first night for a drink at the 1930s rate.
